Founded by Facebook COO, Sheryl Sandberg, and inspired by her book Lean In, Circles are small peer groups that meet regularly to learn and grow together. Join the movement that develops your management and leadership skills and influences adoption of inclusive work cultures. Low budget, high impact, innovative and fun!

Decide these 4 things

1. Where will your Circle meet (city) or online (set up a Facebook group, ZOOM)?
2. Who will be in your Circle? Friends, co-workers? Collect emails.
3. Name your Circle starting with ShowMe50 (Eg: ShowMe50 Charlotte, ShowMe50 Animators, ShowMe50 UPS), or any name (and join the ShowMe50 network through the Lean In web portal.)
4. Write a short description of your Circle and its goals. This will appear on your Circle’s profile page.

Register your Circle

1. Go to https://leanin.org/circles-registration?step=1
2. Follow the registration steps using the information you decided in step 1 above.
3. Join the ShowMe50 network by going to https://leanin.org/circles-network/showme50 and clicking “Add your Circle.”

Schedule your first meeting

1. ShowMe50 will coach you on running your Lean In Circles and facilitate your first meetings in a “train the trainer” approach.
2. Select content from the Lean In website or the ShowMe50 content menu
3. Send invitations via email or Eventbrite.
4. Meet on a regular basis: monthly works best. Lean In Circles are excellent for starting a new, or compliment an existing, Women’s Leadership Development ERG/BRG.

Cost

Do it yourself for free, or our 501(c)(3) can help you. $300 to setup your circle and co-create a program aligned to your company goals. Another $300 to facilitate a Lean In Circle meeting (up to 20 people) and “train the trainer” so you can scale yourself.

YOU CHOOSE CONTENT THAT ALIGNS WITH YOUR MISSION!

ShowMe50 is here to support you every step of the way!
